2. After learning about script forms of Devnagri Alphabet letters, what is to be learnt by students of Vedic Mathematics Science and technology is the TCV values of individual Devnagri Alphabet letters.
3. With learning of TCV values of individual Devnagri alphabet letters, one shall attempt one's on TCV values Dictionary of Sanskrit words.
4. One may evaluate one's knowledge of Vedic systems in terms of the value of one's TCV values Dictionary.
5. Sanskrit words formulations have their internal sequential organizational features which as well permit chase in terms of the reach of TCV values up-till different sequential phases of chase.
6. One may have a pause here and take note that transcendental values are having parallel numbers and artifices of numbers as well as dimensional domains within dimensional frames.
7. Dimensional domains within dimensional frames, as such lead to hyper cubes formats for the dimensional bodies.
8. The dimensional bodies focus is upon the domain folds, which infact are manifested space content lumps.
9. This way, transcendental values, ultimately get linked with spaces contents.
10. With this the transcendental values become the ultimate structural keys in terms of which formulations of systems and processes of technologies can be reached at and can be worked out.
11. This being so, the Mathematics of transcendental values of Sanskrit words become the basic source material.
12. The formulation 'Padarth' which accepts TCV values '21/22' leads us to whole range of Sathpatya measuring rod as 21=1+2+3+4+5+6 and 22 = 4+5+6+7=21+1, a simultaneous static and damnic states as 22 points and 21 units setups along the same format .

13. One shall sit comfortably and permit the transcending mind to be face to face with the split of word formulation ‘Padarth’ as Pada’ and Arth’
14. TCV value of word ‘Pada’ is 6+7=13, which is parallel to 13 geometries range of 6-space. This is also parallel to 13 edged cube within 4-space.
15. The simple English rending for the word ‘Arth’ comes to be ‘Meanings’.
16. Therefore meanings of objects/material objects get organized along the format of Sathpathya measuring rod which is a synthetic set up of hyper cubes 1 to 6 as manifested space contents of 1 space to 6 space.
17. Accordingly the whole range of material objects of our solar universe become the subject matter of chase by the Discipline of Vedic mathematics science & technology.
